[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO JUNE 27.

Washington News.

CHICAGO, June 26.—The Tribune's Washington special dispatch says there has been considerable contest over the Secretaryship of Utah since the death of [illegible]. The President says he will not make any change there at present, but will leave Mann there for awhile.

The following is an article in protocol of the annexation scheme which was referred to by the minority in their report on San Domingo: His Excellency General Grant, President of the United States, promises privately to use all of his influence in order that the idea of annexation of Dominica to the United States may acquire such degree of popularity among members of Congress as will be necessary for its accomplishment, and he offers to make no communication to that effect on the subject until he shall be certain that it will be approved by a majority. The acceptance of annexation will oblige the United States to pay one million and a half dollars in coin, in order that the Republic may pay its debts and demands with that sum. If the debt is in excess it is to be charged to the Republic.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The Conference Committee on the currency bill agreed on the report. The retirement of [illegible], the redistribution of [illegible],000,000 of expiring national bank currency and free banking on a gold basis are the leading features of the report.

CHICAGO, June 27.—The Tribune's Washington special says the pending Chinese labor bill in Congress is generally misunderstood. It does not interfere with voluntary immigration or with their making contracts themselves to labor anywhere, but simply aims to break up the custom of importing Chinese on three or four years contract and let them to the highest bidder by importers.

It is understood the Finance Committee yesterday, in considering the tax and tariff bill with a view of making up the loss of revenue caused by striking out the income tax, have agreed to recommend the retaining of tax on gross receipts, which yields something over six millions, and also to retain the present duty on sugar, which ... and which will cover the deficiency.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The Times' special says: It is ascertained from excellent authority that the reason why District Attorney Pierrepont's resignation is not acted upon by the Senate is that Grant intends giving him a seat in the Cabinet when he is ready to reconstruct. This will be after Congress adjourns, when there will be quite a change of front on the Cuban question. The President sees that he has gone too far against the popular current, and is now anxious to go in strong for Cuba. He hopes Sumner's resolutions will be passed, when he will act upon them after adjournment and inaugurate a vigorous policy and satisfy all those in sympathy with Cuba.

Postage to Victoria Reduced.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The letter postage to Vancouver's Island, British Columbia, will be reduced the 1st of January to six cents per half ounce prepaid.

Indian News.

ST. LOUIS, June 26.—Advices from Camp Supply, Indian Territory, to June 12th say a band of 50 to 60 Indians attempted to run off a herd of working oxen belonging to the Fort that day, but were driven off and pursued by a company of cavalry, and six of them killed. On the 8th inst. 100 Indians attacked a train near Buffalo creek, but were defeated by Lieut. Bodner, with a troop of the cavalry; 2 killed and 3 wounded. Corporal Freeman and private Winchester were wounded. About 20 animals were killed.

From Cuba.

HAVANA, June 25.—The Captain General telegraphs that he has captured a second cargo landed by the steamer Upton on her return from Aspinwall. It is more valuable than the first. The [illegible] command killed 12 of Sangsels' band, including an American colonel. Ortega and family have been surrounded and captured. Two men refused to surrender and were caught and hanged, and their families outraged. Parties are coming ... and refuse to aid revolutionists.

From Mexico.

Mexico advices are to the 28th. The Rio Grande revolutionists do not number 1,000 men. Sarmiento, prefect of Tuxtepeca, was assassinated by the citizens. The U. S. Consul has sent to Michoacan in pursuit of the murderers.

Foreign Items.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The Herald's London special says great excitement is prevailing in Madrid in consequence of the discovery of a plot to blow up the powder magazine and fortress at Gibraltar. Fenianism is supposed to be at the bottom of it.

The Cortes has closed for the summer vacation.

The World's Montreal special says a great independence mass meeting was held at Montreal on Saturday. The independence movement is regarded as already started in the Dominion.

BY THE CABLE.

CORK, June 26.—Disturbances continue, although troops and police occupy the streets. Rioters do not oppose the troops but annoy the police, and when driven from the streets they occupy house tops and hurl tiles and stones at policemen.

A delegation of the Anti Coolie Association will visit the Board of Health to-morrow to inform them of the danger to the health of the community from the presence and mode of living of the Chinese in San Francisco. The Chinese eight foot giant went around to-day.

The tide land survey shows that the Mission Rock grant to Tichnor & Co., at a nominal price for a ship yard, made by the last Legislature, covers fourteen acres, and Tichnor & Co. will proceed to occupy and improve the same immediately.

A meeting of the stockholders of Wells Fargo & Co. was called at New York Sept. 12th to consider the project of reducing the capital stock from $15,000,000 to $5,000,000. The Directors say that the capital stock was increased to the present figure to enable it to buy off opposition and to meet losses on the overland stage lines, and that it is so large as to prevent the payment of respectable dividends and damage the credit of the Company in its banking and financial operations generally.

THE WAR IN CUBA.

Message of the President of the United States.

WASHINGTON, June 13th.—The President sent the following message to Congress late this afternoon:

To the Senate and House of Representatives: In my annual message to Congress, at the beginning of its present session, I referred to the contest which had then for more than a year existed in Cuba between a portion of its inhabitants and the Government of Spain, and the feelings and sympathy of the people and Government of the United States for the people of Cuba, as for all peoples struggling for liberty and self government, and said that the contest had at no time assumed the conditions which amounted to war in the sense of international law, or which would show the existence of a de facto political organization of the insurgents sufficient to justify a recognition of belligerency. During the six months which have passed since the date of the message the condition of the insurgents has not improved, and the insurrection itself, although not subdued, exhibits no signs of advance, but seems to be confined to an irregular system of hostilities carried on by small bands of armed men, without concentration, through the woods and sparsely populated regions of the island, attacking from ambush convoys and small bands of troops, burning plantations and estates of those not in sympathy with their cause. But the insurrection has not gained ground. It is equally true that Spain has not suppressed it. Climate, disease and the ... have worked destruction among the soldiers of Spain, and though the Spanish Government has possessed every seaport town, ... it has not been able to subdue the hostile feeling which has driven a considerable number of the natives to armed resistance against Spain, and still leads them to endure the dangers and privations of the life of guerrillas. On the other side, the contest has been conducted, and is now carried on, with a lamentable disregard of human life and the usages which modern civilization has prescribed as the necessary process of war. The war of Spaniard and Cuban is alike bringing devastation over fertile regions. Murderous and revengeful decrees are issued and executed by both parties. Count Valmaseda and Colonel Boyton, on the part of Spain, have each startled the humanity and aroused the indignation of the civilized world by the execution each of a score of prisoners at a time, while General Quesada, the Cuban chief, coolly and with apparent unconcern, has admitted the slaughter by his own order in one day of upwards of six hundred and fifty prisoners of war. A summary trial, with few if any escapes from conviction, confirmed by execution, is the fate of those arrested on either side on suspicion of infidelity to the party making the arrest. Whatever may be the sympathies of the people or of the Government of the United States for the cause or objects for which a part of the people of Cuba are understood to have put themselves in armed resistance to Spain, there can be no question of past sympathy in a conflict carried on by both parties alike in such a barbarous violation of the rules of civilized nations, and with such continued outrage. On the plainest principle of humanity we cannot discriminate in our censure of the mode of conducting the contest between Spain and Cuba. Each commit the same atrocities, and outrage alike the established rules of war. The property of many of our citizens has been destroyed or embargoed, the lives of several have been sacrificed, and the liberties of others have been restrained. In every case that has come to the knowledge of the Government an early and earnest demand for reparation and indemnity has been made, and a most emphatic remonstrance has been presented against the manner in which the strife is conducted and against the reckless disregard of human life, the wanton destruction of material wealth, and the cruel disregard of the established rules of civilized warfare.

I have, since the beginning of the present session of Congress, communicated to the House, on their request, an account of the steps which I have taken in hopes of bringing this conflict to an end, and for securing to the people of Cuba the blessings and rights of independence. The efforts made have failed, but not without an assurance from Spain that the good offices of this Government might still avail for the objects to which they had been addressed. During the whole contest the remarkable exhibition has been made of a large number of Cubans escaping from the island and avoiding the risks of war, congregating in this country at a safe distance from the scene of danger and trying to make war on our shores, to urge our people into a fight which they avoid, and to embroil this Government in complications and possible hostilities with Spain. It can scarcely be doubted that this last result is the real object of these parties, although carefully covered under the deceptive and apparently plausible demand for the recognition of their belligerency. It is stated on what I have reason to regard as good authority that Cuban bonds have been prepared to a large amount, whose payment is made dependent upon the recognition by the United States of Cuban belligerency or independence. The object of making their value thus contingent upon the action of this Government is a subject for serious reflection.

In determining the course to be adopted on the demand thus made for the recognition of belligerency, the liberal and peaceful principles adopted by the Father of his Country and the eminent statesmen of his day, and followed by the succeeding Chief Magistrates and the men of their day, may furnish a safe guide to those of us now charged with the direction and control of the public safety. From 1789 to 1815 the dominant thought of our statesmen was to keep the United States out of the wars which were devastating Europe. The discussion of the measures of neutrality begins with the state papers of Jefferson, when he was Secretary of State. He shows that they were measures of national right as well as of national duty; that misguided individual citizens cannot be favored in making war according to their own will, passions, interests, or foreign sympathy; that the agents of foreign Governments, recognized or unrecognized, cannot be permitted to abuse our hospitality by usurping the functions of enlisting or equipping military or naval forces within our territory. Washington inaugurated the policy of neutrality and of absolute separation from all foreign entanglements, which resulted, in 1794, in the first municipal enactment for the observance of neutrality. The duty of opposition to filibustering has been admitted by all the Presidents. It has been one of the constant cares of the Government in the United States to prevent piratical expeditions against the feeble Spanish American Republics from leaving our shores. In no country are men wanting for any enterprise that holds out the promise of adventure or gain. In the early days of our national existence the whole continent of America outside of the United States and all its islands were colonial dependents of European Powers. The revolutions which from 1810 spread almost simultaneously throughout the Spanish colonies on the American continent resulted in the establishment of new States like ourselves, of European origin, and interested in excluding European politics and the question of dynasty and the balance of power from further influence in the New World. The American policy of neutrality, important before, became doubly so from the fact that it becomes applicable to a new Republic as well as to a mother country. It then devolves upon us to determine the great international question at what time and under what circumstances to recognize a new Power as entitled to a place among the family of nations, as well as the question of attitude to be observed by this Government toward the insurrectionary party. Pending the contest Monroe concisely expressed the rule which has controlled the action of this Government with reference to any country, pending its struggle, by saying that as soon as the Government assumed such a steady and consistent form as to make the success of the Province probable, the rights to which they were entitled by the laws of nations as equal parties to a civil war should be extended to them. The strict adherence to this rule has been one of the highest honors of American statesmanship, and has secured to this Government the confidence of the feeble Powers of this continent, and which inclined them to rely on its friendship in the absence of all signs of conquest, and to look to the United States for its example and moral protection. It has given to this Government a position of prominence and of influence which it should not abdicate, but which imposes on it the most delicate duties of right and honor regarding the American position, whether these questions affect emancipated colonies or colonies still subject to European dominion.

The question of belligerency is one of fact not to be decided by sympathy or prejudice against either party. The relation between the parent State and the insurgents must amount in fact to war, according to international law. The fighting, though fierce and protracted, does not alone constitute war. There must be military forces acting in accordance with the rules and customs of war, flags of truce, exchange of prisoners, etc., and to justify a recognition of belligerency there must be above all a de facto political organization of the insurgents sufficient in character and resources to constitute, if left to itself, a State among the nations capable of discharging the duties of a State, and meeting the just responsibilities it may incur as such toward other Powers in discharge of its national duties.

Applying the best of information which I have been able to gather, whether from official or unofficial sources, including the very exaggerated statements which each party gives to all that may prejudice the opposite or give credit to its own side of the question, I am unable to see in the present condition of the contest in Cuba those elements which are requisite to constitute war in the sense of international law. The insurgents hold no town or city, have no establisheded seat of Government, they have no Prize Courts, no organization for receiving or collecting revenue, no seaport to which a prize may be carried or through which access can be had by a foreign power to the limited interior territory and mountain fastness which they occupy. The existence of a Legislature representing any popular constituency is more than doubtful in its uncertainty. There is no probable evidence of election, of any delegated authorities of any Government outside the limits of the camps occupied from day to day by the moving companies of the insurgents. There is no commerce, no trade, either internal or foreign, no manufactures. The late Commander in Chief of the insurgents, having recently come to the United States, publicly declared that all commercial intercourse and trade with the exterior world has been utterly cut off, and he further added: To-day we have not 10,000 arms in Cuba.

It is a well established principle of public law that a recognition by a foreign State of belligerent rights to insurgents under circumstances such as now exist in Cuba, if not justified by necessity, is a demonstration of moral support to the Rebellion. Such necessity may hereafter arise, but it has not yet arisen, nor is its probability clearly to be seen. If it be a war between Spain and Cuba and be recognized, it is our duty to provide for the consequences which may ensue in the embarrassment of our commerce and the interference with our marine. If belligerency be recognized the commercial marine of the United States becomes liable to search and seizure by the commissioned cruisers of both parties, and they have to become subject to the adjudication of Prize Courts. Our large coastwise trade between the Atlantic and Gulf States, and between both and the Isthmus of Panama and the other States of South America, engaging the larger part of our commercial marine, passes of necessity almost within sight of the island of Cuba. Under the treaty with Spain of 1795, as well as by the laws of nations, our vessels will be liable to visits on the high seas. In case of belligerency the carrying of contraband goods, which now is lawful, becomes liable to risks of seizure and condemnation.

In view of the gravity of this question, I have deemed it my duty to invite the attention of the law-making power of the country to all the relations and bearings of the question in connection with the declaration of neutrality and granting of belligerent rights. There is not a de facto Government in Cuba sufficient to execute the laws or to maintain just relations with other nations. Spain has not been able to suppress the opposition to Spanish rule on the island, nor to award speedy justice to other nations or to citizens of other nations when their rights have been invaded. There are serious complications growing out of the seizure of American vessels upon the high seas, executing American citizens without proper trial, and confiscating or embargoing the property of American citizens. Solemn protests have been made against every infraction on the rights of citizens of the United States, or our flag upon the high seas, and all proper steps have been taken and are pressed for proper reparation for every indignity complained of. The question of belligerency, however, which is to be decided upon definite principles, and according to ascertained facts, is entirely different from and unconnected with the other questions of the manner in which the strife is carried on on both sides and the treatment of our citizens entitled to our protection. These questions concern our own dignity and responsibility, and they have been made, as I have said, the subject of repeated communications with Spain, and of protests and demands for redress on our part. It is hoped that these will not be disregarded, but should they be, these questions will be made the subject of a further communication to Congress.

Union of British Columbia with Canada

Late [illegible] indicate that the union of British Columbia and the Dominion of Canada is about to be consummated. Commissioners from British Columbia have been for some time in attendance at Ottawa with a view of effecting the [illegible] to require the acceptance of [illegible] of the Government of the Dominion which it is supposed will protect British Columbia and be advantageous to her interests. They stipulate that Canada is to be responsible for the debts of British Columbia at the date of union; that the population for the purpose of financial arrangements shall be fixed at 120,000 (which is about ten times the real population) and that as British Columbia has not incurred debts equal to the [illegible] that constitute the Dominion she shall receive interest on her own indebtedness and on a proper proportion of the debt of the consolidated provinces. The British Columbian local Legislature is to be supported by the confederacy. For this purpose there is to be an annual grant of $35 000 and a further sum equal to eighty cents per head of the population each year. Besides, the central Government is to pay the salaries of the Governor the Judges and officers of the Supreme and County Courts and be at all necessary charges for the customs department and whatever other commercial regulations shall be necessary. Steam communication once a fortnight is to be provided at the expense of the Dominion Government, between San Francisco and Victoria. Steam mail service from Victoria to Nanaimo New Westminster and other points on the seaboard, is to be provided also. The following article relative to a railroad was in the original draft of the terms of consideration

> Inasmuch as no real union can subsist between this country and Canada without the speedy establishment of communication across the Rocky Mountains by coach road and railway the Dominion shall within three years of the date of union, construct and open for traffic such coach road from some point on the line of the main trunk road of this Colony to Fort Garry of similar character to said main trunk road and shall further engage to use all means in her power to complete such railway communication at the earliest practicable date. Surveys to determine the proper line for such railway shall at once commence. A sum of not less than $1 000 000 shall be expended in every year from and after three years from the date of union in actually constructing the initial sections of such railway from the seaboard of British Columbia to connect with the railway system of Canada

It would seem to be doubtful whether such an article as this will be acceded to by the Dominion Government. Yet this idea of a railroad is the main thing which induces British Columbia to seek the union. It is freely stated by the Commissioners at Ottawa that without the assurance of this railroad the people of British Columbia would turn as readily to the United States for union as to the Dominion of Canada.

It is stipulated further that British Columbia shall have four members in the Dominion Senate and eight members in the House. A marine hospital and lunatic asylum are to be maintained at Victoria, a first class graving dock to cost $500,000 is to be constructed at Esquimalt, and lighthouses, buoys etc are to be placed about the different harbors where the same may be wanted. There is also an understanding with the Dominion that it will use its [illegible] so as to secure the continuance of the naval station at Esquimalt. The terms of union appear, on the whole to be very advantageous to British Columbia, but it is not easy to see what the Dominion is to gain. It is to incur heavy charges, with no apparent compensation.

Wanted, A Railroad

We have heard of one or two persons who have misinterpreted the tenor and meaning of articles which have lately appeared in this paper relative to the west side road. These persons have misconstrued the whole spirit of the articles by interpreting them to mean hostility to the west side enterprise. We have said nothing that will bear such construction. On the contrary none can be more anxious to see the road built than we are. They who are interested in newspaper property know and appreciate as much as any other persons can, the importance of railroads. No branch of business is more benefitted by railroads than newspapers. Railroads increase the business and enlarge the circulation of newspapers beyond all calculation. Every additional railroad built from this city into the interior will become a most important auxiliary to the daily paper published here. The west side road is an enterprise of vast consequence to Portland and to the whole State. There is nobody who does not want it built. What we have said about it we have said with an earnest desire to stimulate its construction. The people of Portland and of the west side counties have a right to demand that they who have the enterprise in hand and they who have been professing to back them, shall either go on at once and build the road, or give place for somebody who will build it. The country wants the road and cares little who builds it, so it is done. A movement that means business is what the people want to see. This is the sole object we have in view in writing about it

The New York Tribune is disposed to be somewhat facetious over one of the conditions on which British Columbia expresses a willingness to become a part of Canada. It says "British Columbia owes a debt—and a not inconsiderable one at that, for a large territory without population or products to pay—and the Commissioners are instructed to require that Canada shall not only assume this provincial debt but pay the aforesaid province interest at 5 per cent upon it. We have heard of instances in which individuals were accused of living off the interest of what they owed but this is the first case on record in which a nation attempted the same financial feat"

A letter has been addressed to the Congressional Committee on Foreign Relations by A A. Low of New York in which it is maintained that a ship canal cannot be built across the Isthmus of Darien without a frightful loss of life on account of the intense heat and the malarious and deadly fevers that prevail throughout the year and even if it could be constructed it would be of little importance to the United States, and the benefits would mostly accrue to foreign governments. The Committee has this subject under consideration and also a scheme for a ship canal across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec

The new naturalization bill that has been before Congress for some time was tabled a few days ago by a decisive vote. Some of the Republican members opposed it because it did not positively deny the right of naturalization to Chinese, and others opposed it for various reasons. It was tabled by a vote so positive that it will hardly come up again

President Grant on Cuba

The message of President Grant on Cuban affairs which we published [illegible] is an answer to the [illegible] petitions which [illegible] sympathizers [illegible] ing the people of this country into freebooters [illegible] plunder [illegible] countries when [illegible] opportunity offers. The President condemns the inhumanity manifested in both [illegible] that [illegible] the Cubans [illegible] to [illegible] by the United States. He [illegible] no organization for receiving or collecting [illegible] through which [illegible] through which access can [illegible] hardly [illegible]. The existence of [illegible] legislature representing any popular constituency [illegible] or [illegible] inhabitants. [illegible] Yet the Administration is arraigned for not recognizing the [illegible] republic of Cuba. It is plain that the President has pursued the only judicious course. It would have been ridiculous for him to pursue any other. Could those who criticise the Administration for its policy toward Cuba have their way the next step after recognizing the Republic of Cuba would probably be a formal recognition by our Government of the [illegible] Republic which has its head quarters at New York.

In a Nutshell

Democratic papers have been jubilating greatly about the victory of their party in the judicial election in New York in which no contest was made and less than half vote polled by either party. The Chicago Tribune thus summarizes the political situation in New York

> It appears that in those counties of New York where the Democrats made their heaviest gains the aggregate Democratic vote was less than half the vote given for Hoffman two years ago. The Republican party knew they would be outvoted any way by the repeaters and only voted at all under that discouraging sense of duty which actuates a good man whose faith is at fault and who feels therefore that nothing he can do or omit to do will be imputed to him for righteousness. If the Republicans had all voted there would have been so many more beaten. If none of them had voted none would have been beaten. The marvel is that the State, having so long since lost her right of self-government the lawful voters should think it worth while to vote at all

A letter from Washington to the Chicago Tribune states that before the adjournment of the session of Congress a bill will probably pass granting amnesty to all engaged in the late rebellion, except two or three classes of persons—say those educated at West Point or Annapolis those who abandoned Congress to go into the rebellion and those who directly administered the government of the Confederacy. An amnesty like this would include all except Jeff Davis, Breckinridge and a few others who ought never to be amnestied

The Senate thinks the income tax should not be continued in any shape. It has therefore stricken out all the House amendments on the subject, and proposes to let the tax expire this yearly limitation. It will be remembered that the House proposed to reduce the tax to three per cent and to raise the exemption to $2,000

The Washington Territory Legislature is certainly Republican. The Council stands five Republicans to four Democrats the House seventeen Republicans twelve Democrats and one in doubt. The majority for Garfielde is now figured at 729

The Killing of E D Holbrook

The Boise Statesman of the 21st has the following version of this tragedy

On Saturday evening about 8½ o clock at Idaho City, a shooting affair took place between Charles Douglas and Mr Holbrook, which resulted in the death of the latter. There are a great many rumors afloat somewhat contradictory in their purport but as far as we can learn it appears that Mr Holbrook was sitting in front of his law office, adjoining Dr Belknap's drug store when he was approached by Douglass who asked him if he (Holbrook) had called him a coward. Holbrook replied in the affirmative when Douglass drew his revolver and fired, the ball taking effect in the lower portion of the abdomen of Mr Holbrook. Mr H immediately jumped upon his feet, drew his revolver and fired at Douglass, who retreated around the corner followed by Holbrook. A number of shots passed through the bow window of the drug store, completely demolishing everything. In all about ten shots were fired. Douglass escaped unhurt. Another account states that the first firing by the parties was simultaneous, still another that Holbrook fired the first shot. Holbrook survived the wound about twelve hours retaining his consciousness to the last moment and expressing his satisfaction at having failed to hit Douglass. The funeral was to have taken place yesterday at 5 P M with Masonic honors of which Order he was a member

New York Wheat Market.—A New York date of June 11 gives the following:

"The hardening tendency of the foreign wheat markets consequent upon diminishing supplies and poor crop prospects has led to an active export demand for wheat and flour which has not only swept off all the fresh supplies but given shippers control of the best portion of those to arrive in all this month. The published reports by the cable are exceedingly ambiguous, but private cables are explicit enough. From these I gather that the English are alarmed over threatened short crops not only of grain but of root crops, hay, etc, which is the secret of their heavy purchase on this side. From the Continent the accounts are equally lugubrious. The wheat crop of Central and Southern France presents a gloomy aspect, and the important rye crop of Germany has suffered to such an extent as to render it unlikely that the immense consumption can be supplied without drawing heavily upon wheat. In Sweden some parts of Russia, and in fact all over the Continent the crop prospect is at present far from flattering. It is of course possible for good weather to make amends for the present unfavorable aspect, but there is nevertheless every appearance of a considerable shortage in the crops of Europe in which event good prices on this side of the Atlantic are inevitable. Prices of red wheat here are now 20c to 30c above the lowest point of depression since last harvest. The French and Germans are competing to a moderate extent with English shippers with the result of a pretty firm freight and a weak and drooping Exchange market

Corruption at the Polls.—The Corvallis Gazette has this

Democratic editors continue to flood their papers with indignant protests against the corruption practiced by the Republicans at the polls in the recent election. Now so far as this county is concerned we fear[illegible] charge upon the virtuous and licensed Democracy the very crime they falsely impute to us. This city has but recently been purged of some half a dozen [illegible] vagabonds who were undoubtedly brought here by the Democrats and paid [illegible] to maintain and vote their ticket. They have shamelessly quartered upon the community a band of lawless wretches with whom neither the lives nor property of our citizens were safe. [illegible] blasphemy and drunkenness [illegible] up in our streets ever since these Democratic proteges came among us like that graceless scamp in "Our Mutual Friend" to earn a living by the sweat of their [illegible] brows. The odor of their sojourn in Corvallis will not soon forsake the skirts of the Democracy and our people will not soon forget those brawling, miscreants who made both day and night hideous with Democratic uproar

An Otsego (N Y) county lawyer, who some months since was put off the cars on the Central Pacific Railroad, because he would not give up his ticket before a seat was procured for him, has sued the company for damages.

CURRENT NOTES

Ben Bolt has been convicted of murder in Cecil Md. He was probably driven crazy by his incessant efforts to remember Sweet Alice by request

Stephen S Foster husband of Abby Kelly [illegible] with 100 [illegible] in Massachusetts [illegible] refuse to pay taxes until their wives and daughters can vote

Horace Greeley will address the citizens of Greeley Colorado on the Fourth of July. An excursion train will run from Denver to Greeley on that day

James W Smith a young colored man a native of South Carolina and a member of the freshman class of the Howard University District of Columbia is appointed a cadet at West Point by the Hon Mr Hoge Representative in Congress from that State

It is reported on apparently good authority that the negotiations pending for the control of the main roads including the Northwestern and Rock Island to Omaha by the Vanderbilt combination are nearly completed and a new system will be inaugurated soon. This will materially reduce the number of ticket office runners and Clerks in San Francisco and effect a large saving in the expenses of the road

The San Francisco Bulletin has this: An impression prevails in some quarters that England is largely dependent on California for Wheat. Nothing can be more absurd. The whole quantity sent from this coast forms but a very small percentage of the imports into Great Britain. The Wheat crop of that country ranges from 75 000 000 to 100 000 000 bushels. In 1866 it was set down at 55 000 000 bushels and in 1867 from 50 000 000 to 85 000 000. In addition from [illegible] 000 000 to [illegible] 000 000 cwt of Wheat and Flour are annually imported. In 1865 Great Britain imported the equivalent of 25 844 000 cwt. While in 1868 the quantity was 29 [illegible] 000 cwt and in 1869 it was [illegible] cwt

In a proclamation dated June 6 Gov Holden of North Carolina sets forth an appalling list of outrages committed by the kuklux in that State during May and the worst of it is the perpetrators are still at large and are likely to remain so though the Governor offers a reward for the discovery and arrest of any one of them. The proclamation sets forth that during the month a State Senator was murdered in open daylight in a county court house a colored man was murdered at night twenty one persons, both white and colored were cruelly whipped and scourged, two colored women outraged a colored man shot another drowned two white men murdered besides many being wounded and otherwise injured by the destruction of their property and a State Senator compelled to fly from the district to save his life. How shall we harmonize this official statement with the claim so often made that life and property are as safe at the South as at the North?

The Army Bill, as it finally passed, secures a reduction from 55 000 rank and file to 30 000. When officers are discharged on their own application they are to receive from one to two years additional pay; when they go out upon recommendation of the Board one year's additional pay. The grades of General and Lieutenant General are to expire when they are vacated by the present incumbents. The pay roll fixes the following rates for officers: General $12,000; Lieutenant General $10 000; Major General, $7 500; Brigadier General $5,500; Colonel $3 500; Lieutenant Colonel $3 000; Major $2 500; Captain (mounted) $2 000; Captain (not mounted) $1 800; First Lieutenant (mounted) $1 [illegible]; First Lieutenant (not mounted) $1 500; Second Lieutenant (mounted) $1 500; Second Lieutenant (not mounted) $1 400; Chaplain $1 500; Aid de Camp to Major General $150 additional; Acting Assistant Commissary $100 additional; fuel and forage in kind to be issued by the Quartermaster's Department as now. There will be a slight reduction in the aggregate expenses of the army for the current year but the great reduction will come in the year 1872

THE WEST

A party of men from San Francisco are about to reclaim Dickson Island, that piece of tule land immediately north of Mare Island, containing about ten thousand acres. Two hundred Chinamen will be set to work at once

Father Murray, who has spent his life among the Indians says that the appearance of any thing in the nature of a beard is an infallible sign of mixed blood. There is not, therefore in all the Saginaw and Lake Huron region a pure blooded Indian

On the 18th June a painful accident occurred at the ferry on Snake river about 30 miles below Eagle Rock. The ferryman in endeavoring to cross, swamped his boat, and was washed down the river. His wife witnessed the sad scene from the shore. His body has not been recovered

Merchants at Fort Benton Montana Territory are much inconvenienced by the embargo lately placed by Government on the shipment of peltries. It is estimated that nearly half a million of dollars of merchandise of this character is now detained at Fort Benton by the action of the Government. An effort is being made to have the embargo lifted or so modified as to permit the shipment of such robes as are collected in the district not infected with the small pox

Haggin Vice President of the Southern Pacific Railroad has sent a communication to the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco saying that the recent recount by the Board of Supervisors of the vote on the railroad subsidy had disclosed the fact that either the original count was careless and incorrect or the ballots had been tampered with subsequently and in the present condition of the question, his company does not desire to avail itself of the subsidy but asks them to take every means in their power to discover the perpetrators of the fraud if one has been committed. The Board received and placed it on file but took no action on it

They are making war on squirrels in California. One man in Contra Costa county has shot 4 723 with a single rifle. The Gazette gives the following as an exhibit of business up to June 11. Up to the first of the present week Justices Ashbrook Stitz Allen and Mayon had issued certificates for 34 716 squirrel and 382 gopher scalps. Justice Stitz had certified for 15 5[illegible] squirrels and 137 gophers. Justice Mayon to 9 000 squirrels and 75 gophers and Justice Allen to 3 491 squirrels and [illegible] gophers. We have no return from Justices Wood and Wilbour who have probably received more or less scalps, and the entire number taken by this date including those not yet offered for certificates will not probably be less than 50 000 which represents not more than half the number killed and not scalped either directly or indirectly under the incentive of the bounty and it would not be extravagant to estimate that the squirrels thus killed and their natural increase within the year would have consumed the value of $5 000 in grass and grain products

Adapted to Circumstances.—A lady made her husband a present of a silver drinking cup with an angel at the bottom. When she filled it for him he used to drink it to the bottom and she asked him why he drank every drop.

"Because, Lucky, I long to see the dear little angel at the bottom."

Upon which she had the angel taken out and a devil engraved at the bottom. He drank all the same and she again asked him the reason.

"Because I won't leave the old devil a drop," he replied

[illegible] who will [illegible] Under all the [illegible] superior [illegible] severe [illegible] contempt [illegible] country [illegible] go [illegible] the ordinary level even to hold up [illegible] of the average [illegible] In such a [illegible] afford [illegible] the [illegible] luxuriant [illegible] a parallel [illegible] quite [illegible] that at least [illegible] places and that [illegible] him with [illegible] which [illegible] contrast can endure [illegible] Webfeet which might be [illegible] between [illegible] within the [illegible] Webfoot [illegible] for [illegible] would not be [illegible] the powers [illegible] we have in these later days our [illegible] in June grateful [illegible] everyday the [illegible] pleasant temperature [illegible] telegraphic dispatches from abroad are [illegible] with such expressions as here. The heated term [illegible] thermometer to day [illegible] thermometer to day [illegible] the intense heat [illegible] by the heat, etc [illegible] afflicted with chronic [illegible] the dispatches [illegible] from [illegible] California [illegible] found boasting they find [illegible] advantage of Oregon?

A Sharp [illegible] Under the Fifth Rib.—At the late election at East Portland one of the old [illegible] whee hoss" was a candidate for Justice of the Peace but notwithstanding his [illegible] his party his name was [illegible] by some of the [illegible] whereby the aforesaid [illegible] was [illegible] to the afore[illegible] wheel-hoss [illegible] honorable and [illegible] office. As is frequently the case with [illegible] under [illegible] wheel hoss [illegible] that he had a right to be angry and he being [illegible] a wheel hoss who could say him nay? He felt that he had an inalienable right to slosh around [illegible] to strike out before and to kick out behind [illegible] we have seen evidence that he was sloshing [illegible] and that unless [illegible] brethren should prove expert in the exercise of [illegible] and lively flank movements they [illegible] some danger of finding [illegible] playing a lively tattoo [illegible] The latest slosh from that quarter was the following which appeared in the [illegible] advertisement

Notice.—There will be a meeting of the Electors of East Portland at Trainor's Hall to [illegible] to take charge of the Dog Department of the city. Prominent among the candidates are our [illegible] citizens and sound Democrats W W Thayer and N H Lane but [illegible] has received a nomination at the hands of the party and Thayer was left out in the cold [illegible] decidedly in favor of Thayer [illegible] that no [illegible] ticket will [illegible]

To the foregoing notice was appended the [illegible] signature of "Fair Play" which being translated into our vernacular, means Barney Trainor Esq as we suppose. There is a heap of human nature in unregenerate man and Barney is but a man, save and except that he is also a wheel hoss. Revenge to a man or a wheel hoss is sweet and Barney is after revenge, with a [illegible] fair prospect of bagging his game

Oro Fino Theatre.—The burlesque extravaganza of the Lady of L[illegible] was played last evening [illegible] one of the greatest successes of the season. The original drama is so well known and so generally admired, that a burlesque upon it must [illegible] have much merit in it to [illegible] Yet there is hardly a burlesque in existence which has [illegible] better runs in all the great cities. As a burlesque it is quite as popular as the original of which it is a broad caricature. It is full of [illegible] puns and plays upon words, witticisms [illegible] allusions and such a hurly burly of laughable situations all reversed from those of the [illegible] that nobody need ever try to witness it without laughing as [illegible] Yankee cousin would [illegible] "consumedly." Mr Melville was in his great character of [illegible] with Miss Annie Pixley as her Claude. We have never seen either of them do better than in this piece. Melville's make up was something almost marvellous and his assumption of the airs of the haughtily [illegible] beauty was laughable to the last degree [illegible] the safety of the buttons and [illegible] of his audience. Mr Vinson's [illegible] Melnotte was very artistic and quite as laughable as was Pauline. The doughty combat [illegible] the widow and her new daughter in law brought down the house in such screams of laughter as were never before heard in Oro Fino [illegible] Miss Ingles with the single exception of being imperfect occasionally in her lines, was an excellent Beauseant. Miss Minnie Pixley was splendid as Gaspar and Thornton did Col Damas in first rate style. The same piece, with [illegible] will be presented to-night.

Postal Arrangements with Vancouver's Island and British Columbia.—The Portland Post Office has been officially informed that arrangements have just been concluded for an exchange of correspondence between the United States and the provinces of Vancouver's Island and British Columbia, to take effect on the first of July next. The rates of postage chargeable on the correspondence exchanged with the provinces in question on and after the [illegible] prox [illegible] six cents for each half ounce or fraction thereof, on the prepaid letter sent, and ten cents on the unpaid letter received. Letters insufficiently paid are to be transmitted as wholly unpaid. Newspapers pamphlets magazines and all other articles of printed matter are to be chargeable with the regular domestic rates of postage to and from the frontier line of the United States and the provinces, respectively.

The offices of exchange on the part of the United States are [illegible] New York San Francisco Portland [illegible] Olympia and on the side of Vancouver's Island and British Columbia Victoria.

The mails exchanged between the offices of Boston New York [illegible] and Portland on the one side [illegible] on the other are [illegible] pass each way [illegible] is not to be opened at any intermediate office.

This office is directed to give directions for the exchange of correspondence between this office and Victoria [illegible] and after the 1st of July next in accordance with the [illegible] instructions

CITY.

[illegible] OF A CONTRAST.—Let those who [illegible] at the climate of Oregon, and vent their [illegible] spleen upon our little "patch." [illegible] all the circumstances, Oregonians have no [illegible] to feel particularly cut up, should some [illegible] being from California go even to the [illegible] extreme of snapping his lordly fingers [illegible] under our noses and calling our [illegible] "Webfoot." No Oregonian unless he [illegible] sensitive, would, for such a thing, [illegible] himself. He could still afford to live, and [illegible] up his chin to the ordinary level [illegible] human animal. In such a con[illegible] the modest Webfoot could afford to look [illegible] and seeing everywhere luxuriant ver[illegible] paradise of flowers and fruits, a land bur[illegible] with bounteous crops, congratulate himself [illegible] lines have been cast in pleasant [illegible] and that, though the Gods had not gifted [illegible] boundless arrogance, super eminent su[illegible] and all those other beatific qualities [illegible] distinguish the real Californian, he yet [illegible] the contemplation of a slight contrast [illegible] be drawn by presumptuous Webfoot [illegible] their country and some others not lying [illegible] the jurisdiction of the Webfoot constitu[illegible] For instance: we flatter ourself that it [illegible] be downright impiety for us to thank [illegible] which take the trouble to preside over [illegible] that we have, in these latter days [illegible] grateful showers, balmy sunshine and an [illegible] pleasant temperature, while everyday the [illegible] dispatches from abroad are loaded [illegible] expressions as these: "The heated [illegible]," "the weather grows hotter [illegible]," "several cases of fatal sunstroke to-day," "[illegible] to-day, 98° thermometer, to-day," "[illegible] everything burning up in the intense [illegible]," "[illegible] greatly injured by the heat," etc., [illegible] all those who are afflicted with chronic [illegible] of Webfoot, please read the dispatches [illegible] the east and the climatic accounts from [illegible], and then inform us specifically what [illegible] upon which to found boasting [illegible] to the disadvantage of Oregon?

[illegible] PROD UNDER THE FIFTH RIB.—At the [illegible] at East Portland, one of the old [illegible] "wheel horses" was a candidate for [illegible] Peace; but notwithstanding his [illegible] services to his party, his name was [illegible] scratched off the ticket by some of the [illegible] party brethren, whereby the aforesaid [illegible] was largely not elected to the afore[illegible] and responsible office. As is fre[illegible] with frail mortal man, under defeat [illegible], our friend, the "wheel-hoss," [illegible] had a right to be angry, and he being [illegible] who could say him neigh? He felt [illegible] inalienable right to slosh around, [illegible] shins out before and to kick out behind. [illegible] from time to time, we have seen evi[illegible] was sloshing, etc., and that, unless [illegible] leading party brethren should prove [illegible] the execution of sudden and lively flank [illegible] they stood in some danger of finding [illegible] heels playing a lively tattoo [illegible]. The latest "slosh" from that [illegible] the following, which appeared in the [illegible] last evening as an advertisement:

"There will soon be a meeting of the [illegible] of East Portland at Trainor's Hall to [illegible] a person to take charge of the Dog De[illegible] of the city. Prominent among the [illegible] very respected citizens and sound [illegible] F. W. Thayer and N. H. Lane, but [illegible] of a nomination at the hands [illegible] Thayer was 'left out in the cold' [illegible] decidedly in favor of Thayer, [illegible] upon his honor that no spurious [illegible] used on the occasion."

[illegible] notice was appended the fic[illegible] of "Fair Play," which being [illegible] vernacular, means Barney [illegible] suppose. There is a heap [illegible] in unregenerate man, and [illegible] man—save and except that he is [illegible]. Revenge to a man or a wheel-[illegible], and Barney is after revenge, with a [illegible] prospect of bagging his game.

[illegible] THEATRE.—The burlesque extrava[illegible] Lyons, played last evening, [illegible] of the greatest successes of the season. [illegible] is so well known and so gene[illegible] a burlesque upon it must [illegible] merit in it to succeed. Yet [illegible] burlesque in existence which has [illegible] in all the great cities. As a bur[illegible] popular as the original of [illegible] a broad caricature. It is full of in[illegible] and plays upon words, witticisms, [illegible] such a hurly-burly of laugh [illegible] reversed from those of the [illegible] ever try to witness it [illegible] at our Yankee cousin would [illegible]. Mr. Melville was in his [illegible] of Pauline, with Miss Annie Pix[illegible]. We have never seen either of [illegible] better than in this piece. Melville's [illegible] something almost marvellous, and [illegible] of the airs of the haughtily [illegible] laughable to the last degree, [illegible] the safety of the buttons and [illegible] of his audience. Mr. Vinson's [illegible] was very artistic and quite as [illegible] Pauline. The dough-ty combat [illegible] widow and her new daughter-in-law, [illegible] the house in such screams of laugh[illegible] never before heard in Oro Fino [illegible]. With the single exception [illegible] occasionally in her lines, was [illegible]. Miss Minnie Pixley was [illegible], and Thornton did Col. [illegible] style. The same piece, with [illegible], to-night.

[illegible] WITH VANCOUVER'S [illegible] COLUMBIA.—The Portland [illegible] officially informed that ar[illegible] been concluded for an ex[illegible] between the United [illegible] of Vancouver's Island [illegible] to take effect on the first [illegible]. The rates of postage chargeable on [illegible] exchanged with the prov[illegible] on and after the 1st, proximo, [illegible] half ounce or fraction there[illegible] letter sent, and ten cents on [illegible] received. Letters insufficiently [illegible] wholly unpaid. [illegible], magazines and all other [illegible] are to be chargeable with [illegible] of postage, to and from [illegible] United States, and the [illegible] exchange on the part of the [illegible] Boston, New York, San Fran[illegible] Olympia; and on the side [illegible] Island and British Columbia, [illegible]

[illegible] Ogn., June 27, 1870.

[illegible] MEETING.—Last evening Bishop Mor[illegible] a number of gentlemen at the vestryroom [illegible] Church to take action upon the project [illegible] a boys' school. The Bishop reported [illegible] and the heirs of the Couch [illegible] a plot of land for the purpose [illegible] immediately west of Eighteenth [illegible] between D and C. streets. He also ex[illegible] of the proposed building. The [illegible] that he desired to erect the south [illegible]. To do this he wanted the [illegible] Portland to subscribe $2,500, to which [illegible] $1,000. He also stated that within [illegible] two years he desired to expend $10,000 [illegible] building and grounds, and that if the [illegible] of Portland would contribute $5,000 of [illegible] he would pledge the remainder. The [illegible] calculated to accommodate 75 day scholars [illegible] boarders and the Professor and his family. [illegible] course of his remarks the Bishop stated [illegible] within the past year he had expended $18,-[illegible] in Portland in the purchase and improvement [illegible] for the girls' school, $13,000 of which [illegible] contributed through himself and $5,000 [illegible] the citizens of Portland. The meeting ap[illegible] Messrs. Dr. Wilson, Lewis, Brooke, Mc[illegible], Eaton and Deady to canvass for sub[illegible], and adjourned until Wednesday even[illegible]. We hope the committee will succeed, [illegible] the citizens of Portland will consult their [illegible] interest and contribute promptly to this land[illegible] enterprise.

[illegible] AMONG THE ROSES.—A rose bud is the [illegible] of love, or, at least, so we have heard. [illegible]body has of late taken to singing [illegible] "among the roses," the roses have taken to [illegible] the little love symbols. We have [illegible] roses on our table, each of which [illegible] in the middle a well developed rose-bud. The [illegible] still, they were plucked has many [illegible] giving all promise of devel[illegible]. It is growing in the [illegible]

BONDED WAREHOUSES.—Among the benefits to result to Portland from the act of Congress creating the Wallamet Customs District and making Portland a Port of Entry, will be the establishment of bonded warehouses here. Merchandise in bond, under the Internal Revenue system, as well as goods from foreign countries under the customs regulations, may be stored here and withdrawn from bond as the condition of the market may require. Merchants will thus have an advantage which they have not before possessed. Hoards of merchandise may thus be held at small expense ready for withdrawal and distribution, and in case of goods like liquors and tobacco, on which there is a heavy internal tax, dealers will be compelled to pay the tax only as they withdraw the articles for the market. Those branches of business may thus be followed here at much less outlay than heretofore. Dealers can withdraw merchandise from bond to suit the capacity and condition of the market, and thus have the advantage of much better facilities for the transaction of business.

BRIEF MENTION.—The river is receding slowly.

The bark Whistler has commenced loading.

The Moses Taylor will sail this evening for San Francisco.

Col. J. S. Ruckel, now at the East, is expected to return to Oregon in a few weeks.

The P. T. Co.'s steamer Fannie Patton is to be lengthened nineteen feet, and will then be one hundred and fifty feet long.

RAILROAD EXCURSION.—Some of the gentlemen friends of the Methodist Church of this city have chartered the cars of the East Side railroad for a grand 4th of July excursion and celebration. The proceeds are to be turned over to the ladies of the church, who are raising a fund to upholster and fit up the inside of the new church. An advertisement containing the particulars can be found in our columns.

APPROPRIATION.—A letter from Congressman Smith states that the River and Harbor Appropriation Bill as passed by the House appropriates $31,000 for the improvement of the Wallamet river below Portland. That amount will complete the works, according to the estimate of the engineer.

STOLEN.—A lot of carpenter's tools were stolen from Mr. H. H. Tuttle's shop, some time between Saturday evening and Monday morning. Certain parties are suspected, who will find it to their advantage to return the tools without asking any questions or charging anything for their honesty.

NEW SAW MILL FIRM.—By an advertisement in this morning's paper, it will be seen that O. H. Rodgers has sold his saw mill to Messrs. W. P. Abrams and L. Besser, who will hereafter carry it on. Mr. Abrams will be the business man at the mill.

HEAD SMASHING.—On Sunday a man named Moore, living out in the suburbs, took it into his head to smash his wife's head with a club. He carried the conception into execution, and now there is one Moore in the county jail.

REMOVAL.—Russell & Ferry, Real Estate Agents, are removing their office to the Willamette Hotel building on Morrison street, between Front and First. They have a new advertisement of property for sale, in this paper.

The Garden City of Germany.

Erfurt has been given the name of the "Garden City of Germany," and according to recently published statistics in Upper Consistorial Councillor von Tettau's "Erfurt, Past and present," she well deserves the title. The area devoted to horticultural purposes in and around the city is over 3,000 Russian morgens (0.65 of an acre). About 600 morgens of this are devoted to market horticulture; 220 morgens of the latter again are devoted to the production of flower seeds; and 210 morgens to vegetable seeds. The houses for the culture of exotic plants, and the hot and cold beds, possess glass covering to the extent of 250,000 square feet. There are 36 independent horticulturists, of whom 27 do only a wholesale trade, beside 120 market gardeners, altogether employing over 500 assistants. The vegetable and seed trade depends almost entirely upon the larger cities of Germany. Over 300,000 catalogues and price lists are annually printed for the wholesale producers, at a cost of $10,000; 50,000 of these are wholesale catalogues, and half of the latter are prepared for England and America. The amount of postage paid on these catalogues, some of which are pamphlets, and on the letters containing seeds, is very great.

For transmission of these seeds a vast number of linen and paper bags and paper are required, involving an annual outlay of over seven thousand dollars. Both these articles are manufactured in the surrounding villages, giving an employment to a great many poor people. As all these bags must be provided with the name of the dealer, a great amount of printing is also required. An incredible number of boxes and baskets are needed for packing purposes; the latter are made by the poor people in the neighboring villages; the former are made in the Thuringian Forest. Many poor families do nothing else during winter but make wooden tickets and stocks for the flowers.

A number of little Thuringian villages are almost upheld by the manufacture of flower pots for Erfurt alone. About 600,000 pots are planted yearly with about 3,500,000 stock-gilliflowers. These planted in a single row would reach nearly fifty miles! In the year 1863 150,000 pots were planted, with 1,550,000 gilliflowers for seed, and these brought an income of nearly fifty thousand thalers. The production of the gilliflower in sixteen varieties and over two hundred colors established the horticultural fame of Erfurt ever since 1810.

The cultivation of vegetables for the market is chiefly carried on in the so-called Dreienbrunn, an area of nearly two hundred acres, which was formerly a great swamp, and used only for the production of watercress. In the fifteenth century the market gardens were all within the city walls; in the last century the water courses in the Dreienbrunn were regulated, and the whole swamp changed into an immense vegetable garden. About twenty acres are still reserved for the production of cress. Before the era of railroads the Erfurt market was limited to the surrounding cities, but now the Thuringian railroad takes the produce to Cassel, Leipsic, Halle, Nuremburg, Weimar, Gotha, and other places. Of the seeds, fifty-eight per cent. is sent to Austria, twenty-four per cent. to Germany, and eighteen per cent. to other lands of Europe, to England and America. A large trade in dried flowers is also carried on. In some of the gardens it is very difficult to get even a single bouquet. Agriculture is also prosperous in and around Erfurt, the farmers also devoting their attention to the production of field vegetables.—Letter to the Evening Post.

THE STEEL PEN.—James Perry, an English schoolmaster, made the first steel pen, and was so good a business man that he succeeded in introducing it as the Perryan pen. In 1825 he had fifty men engaged in the business of making pens, but it was left for Jeremiah Mason to make the pen popular, the same man, by the way, who became a second Peabody by establishing an orphan asylum endowed with $1,200,000. Mason was a Kidderminster carpet weaver, but went to Birmingham and manufactured pins, needles, shoestrings and other infinitesimal trifles. Here he saw in a shop-window a steel pen, priced at sixpence. He bought three, made better and lighter ones at a cost of a penny and a quarter apiece, and sent specimens to Perry. The inventor was delighted, advanced money to Mason, and the intercourse ended in partnership and mutual wealth. Perry has since died, and Mason is now the sole proprietor of the Perryan pen.

The Committee of Arrangements for the Railroad Excursion are requested to meet at 7½ P. M. promptly this evening in the basement of the M. E. Church.

The Presbyterians will soon build a church at Albany.

Mr. Volney Smith, son of the late Delazon Smith of this State, is publishing a Republican paper at Lewisville, Arkansas, called the Red River Post.

The body of Tommy Right, a boy who was drowned in Mary's river some days ago, was recovered on Tuesday while floating down the Wallamet near Corvallis.

The Farmer says that kerosene thrown upon the nests of caterpillars will destroy them. This is said to be an excellent way of getting rid of them when they infest fruit trees.

The Statesman reports that Messrs. A. L. Buckingham and W. J. Murphy, who have been prospecting for coal in the hills in Polk county, a short distance from Salem, have found favorable indications of a good quality of coal.

Mr. J. W. Doutbitt has returned to Salem from a trip to the east of the Cascade mountains, where he has been making selections of the fifty thousand acres of land donated to the Agricultural College founded by the United States Government. The lands have all been designated and set apart. Most of them are in the Goose Lake country, and the rest in Ochoco Valley.

Mr. Burkhart, writes from the ocean beach to the Democrat, as follows: "The road to this portion of the coast is rather rough though probably as good as it will be this season. The scenery from this point—Salmon River—is the finest probably that this coast affords. The mouth of the Siletz is about eight miles below or south of that of the Salmon. Midway from these points on the beach is plainly to be seen Cape Foulweather on the south, and Cape Lookout on the north, which is probably the most western portion of the Oregon coast. As for fish, they are taken only by the Indians, in small quantities, and sold very high. Flounders and perch, rock oysters and other shell fish, may be had in abundance. Taking the trip altogether, it is indeed a pleasant one, though persons coming this season of the year should be well prepared with tents, etc."

DARIEN EXPEDITION.—A New York date of the 19th says:

Advices from the Darien expedition are to May 30th. The weather continued unfavorable; daily heavy rains were swelling the streams to torrents and made it difficult to keep the working parties provisioned. The survey from the Bay of San Blas had, however, proceeded 20 miles to the highest elevation found, 309 feet. The elevation of the river is 295 feet. It is believed that the survey will be continued till the party cross the dividing ridge and communicate with the surveyors from the Nyac, on the Pacific side, who are some distance up the Byano river, and are about to leave it for the Marmonia. The general health of the expedition was fair. No sickness except from fever and ague. The men were dissatisfied with Capt. Selfridge's determination to prolong their stay on the Isthmus. Five had deserted from the ship guard. The officers and men complain that their endurance is taxed to the utmost, and a longer stay will be dangerous. Most of them have worn out their clothing and shoes, and the officers are little better off. At the date of the latest dispatch the expedition had for dinner fresh potatoes, beets, and carrots, received from San Francisco via steamer and Panama Railroad.

An additional lot of those handsome suits worn by everybody, both heavy and light weight, has received by Kohn & Fishel, No. 91 Front street. They are equal to the best custom-made and pleasing to all men that wear them. They also received an extra fine lot of striped calico shirts and Star white shirt.

Their stock in clothing is the largest and finest in Oregon and sold at extreme low prices.

A Cross Husband.—Mrs. Smith.—The fact is, my husband is becoming so outrageously cross and nervous that there is no living with him. He pretends one day that he has got the dyspepsia; the next day liver complaint; the next is sick, with no appetite—declares that there is nothing on the table fit to eat, and so on. It is all nonsense, and nothing but his confounded ugliness. From the very bottom of my heart, I believe he wants to worry me to death.

Lady Friend.—Mrs. Smith, I think you are wrong. No woman has a kinder or more indulgent husband than you. I must confess that I have noticed a change in Mr. Smith, but am inclined to think that all he wants is a tonic; and if I were you, I would not be a day without PLANTATION BITTERS in the house. Make him take them moderately three times a day, and in a short time I think you will see a change. My experience is that PLANTATION BITTERS is one of the best and most delicious tonics in the world; and that for nervousness, loss of appetite, dyspepsia and all kindred complaints, there is nothing so good.

The Popular Tonic of the Age.

The day has gone by when a medicine without merit could command and retain the confidence of the world. Advertising induces the public to try many things, but in this shrewd and thoughtful age, words will not suffice without proofs, and it is by the exercise of their private judgment, men determine the relative value of the various articles recommended to their notice through the business columns of newspapers. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has now been subjected to this searching ordeal for more than eighteen years, and the result is that it stands at the head of the class of remedies to which it belongs. It has distanced and lived down innumerable competitors, and is to-day the standard Tonic of the Western world. The happy effects which have followed its use in cases of dyspepsia, biliousness, nervous affections, intermittent fevers and general debility, and as a constitutional invigorant, have entitled it to universal confidence. Nothing can ever shake its reputation, for it is based on the individual experiences of tens of thousands of witnesses embracing prominent and well known citizens of every profession, occupation and class. There is not a city, town or settlement in the United States where it is not a medicinal staple. No druggist or general dealer would consider his stock complete without it. The returns of the internal revenue department show that its sales exceed those of any other proprietary restorative manufactured on this side the Atlantic. The beneficial results derived during a long series of years from the use of Hostetter's Bitters, have convinced the whole community that the only true way to restore to health a broken down or debilitated system, or to put the human body on its defence when exposed to unwholesome influences, is to invigorate, regulate and purify it at one and the same time.

G. VENARD,
CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

320 ACRES OF LAND, IN JACKSON COUNTY, for sale or exchange for city property. It is in the suburbs of Gasburg. Gasburg, like the beaver, is all "terminus." The branch of the Central Pacific Railroad will intersect the Oregon and California road at Gasburg. The Oregon Central will run through it, as does the stage road now, and many a railroad as yet unthought of, will find its "terminus" in Gas-burg. The warm and dry winters, the mild Italian summers, the gushing spring water at short intervals, the lofty peaks of the Cascades on the east, the Coast Range on the west, the broad and fertile valleys on the north and south, and last, but not least, the inexhaustible forests on every hand, make it naturally one of the finest "terminuses" that ever was attached onto the "tother eend" of any railroad. Also a one third interest in a water-ditch and forty acres of mining lands, which have been worked for nine years and never failed to pay a dividend.

Sketch of the Literary Career of Charles Dickens

The following article on the literary career of Charles Dickens appeared in [illegible] a short time before the death of the great novelist

Charles Dickens the son of Mr [illegible] Dickens who held a position in the [illegible] Department was born at Landport Portsmouth England in 1812 At the close of the war with the United States his father retired on a pension and removed to London where he became connected with one of the daily journals as reporter of Parliamentary debates Charles entered an attorney's office as clerk but finding his duties distasteful and drawn by a natural bias toward literary occupations he sought and obtained an engagement as a reporter on the staff of the Morning Chronicle. This newspaper was then at the height of its popularity under the management of Mr John Black who recognizing the readiness and ability of the new [illegible] soon gave him a chance to display his versatility by publishing in the [illegible] the Sketches of English Life and Character which were collected and reprinted under the title of Sketches by Boz in 1836 and 1837

The freshness and [illegible] of these papers and perhaps the dramatic power indicated by The Village Coquettes a comic opera which Mr Dickens wrote about that time attracted the attention of Messrs Chapman & Hall the publishers, who applied to Boz to prepare for them a serial story to be issued in monthly parts. The result was the Posthumous Memoirs of the Pickwick Club with illustrations at first from the pencil of Seymour and after his death from that of Hablot K Browne Phiz Mr Dickens has given in a preface to later editions of those famous memoirs a very interesting account of the conception and growth of this work, which, begun without any very definite plan remains the most perfect thing of its kind in the English language

The success of the Pickwick Papers was immediate and great Its wit pathos and shrewd picturing of English character high and low touched the heart and fancy of all classes The sayings of Sam Weller were quoted by speakers in the House of Parliament and by the ragged gamins in the slums of London In less than six months from the appearance of the first number of the Pickwick Papers the whole reading public were talking about them—the names of Winkle Wardle Weller Snodgrass Dodson and Fogg had become familiar in our mouths as household terms and Mr Dickens was the grand object of interest to the whole tribe of Leo-hunters male and female of the metropolis Nay Pickwick [illegible] figured in linen drapers' windows and Weller corduroys in breeches-makers' advertisements Boz cabs might be seen rattling through the streets and the portrait of the author of Pelham or Crichton, was scraped down or pasted over to make room for that of the new popular favorite in the omnibuses This is only to be accounted for on the supposition that a fresh vein of humor had been opened that a new and decided original genius had sprung up and the most cursory reference to preceding English writers of the comic order will show that in his own peculiar walk Mr Dickens is not simply the most distinguished but the first

Thus the heavy Quarterly Review.* The young man who made all this tumult in literary London was twenty-three or four years old Taking into consideration his youth and surroundings, his sudden fame is without a parallel in the biographies of men of letters. In England it is much easier for a lord to wake up and find himself famous than it is for a man who has neither rank nor wealth to back his ability—so very much easier that the difference is appalling.

Mr Dickens was now in the full tide of success Of course the editor of the priceless Pickwickian manuscripts did not lack for brilliant proposals from the leading London publishers He accepted from Mr Bentley the editorship of his Miscellany in the second number of which, for February 1837 appeared the first installment of Oliver Twist The story admirably illustrated by George Cruikshank at once became a favorite and is still regarded as one of the author's most striking novels Oliver Twist like Nicholas Nickleby (which was issued in shilling numbers uniform with Pickwick," shortly after the completion of that work) dealt with abuses and cruelties which prevailed in certain public institutions, and was happily instrumental in repealing laws that sanctioned gross injustice. It is noticeable that in most of his novels Mr Dickens has battled with some [illegible] wrong against society, and while adding to literature a crowd of imperishable creations has taught us the deepest lessons of human love and charity

Mr Dickens in 1840 undertook the production of a series of tales in weekly numbers under the general title of Master Humphrey's Clock" It was in this series that The Old Curiosity Shop and Barnaby Rudge were first given to the world While Master Humphrey's Clock was still running Mr Dickens edited the Memoirs of Joseph Grimaldi the celebrated clown,

On finishing 'Master Humphrey's Clock, Mr Dickens sailed from England for the United States, to gather material for a volume upon the men and manners of the New World Returning to England he published American Notes for General Circulation in 1842 Having outgrown many of the follies which were indeed fair objects for any man's satire we look back with wonder on the protests which these bright crisp Notes drew from American readers The same keen eye that discovered Mr Pecksniff in England could not easily keep itself shut while Mr Dickens was making his memorable tour through the Northern and Southern States The absurdity and wrong he saw among us he treated in the same spirit in which he had treated the sins and shams of his own people—writing of New York or Boston as he would have written of London or Dublin or Paris if the same opportunity had arisen [illegible] the American Notes were not at the period [illegible] considered [illegible] reading [illegible] a saving [illegible] we were not entirely faultless as a people that rendered us so sensitive in the year of grace 1842

Martin Chuzzlewit appeared in numbers in 1844 and in the summer of that year the author visited Italy [illegible] after an absence of several months to assist in founding a cheap daily newspaper [illegible] politics Having organized a [illegible] staff and enlisted the services of most of the ablest writers of the day he issued in January the first number of the Daily News acting as editor-in-chief [illegible] columns the results of his Italy [illegible] subsequently reprinted in book form as Pictures from Italy The Daily News [illegible] under way Mr Dickens retired from the editorial management in order to devote himself to pursuits more congenial and important

It was in 1843 that he gave us the first of his inimitable Christmas books A Christmas Carol the second The Chimes in 1845 and the third The Cricket on the Hearth in 1846 To [illegible] the title of many a charming [illegible] wholly or in part [illegible] Mr Dickens' pen It has been pleasantly said that Christmas in England owes most of its cheer and kindly usage to Charles Dickens that it is his good heart which beats in England's [illegible] at Christmas time

In 1847 8 Mr Dickens published Dombey and Son in 1849 50 David Copperfield " Bleak House in 1853 Hard Times in 1854 and Little Dorritt in 1856

*London Quarterly Review October 1857

In 1858 Mr Dickens [illegible] Household Words [illegible] which [illegible] All the Year Round which he still edits A Tale of Two Cities [illegible] Great Expectations [illegible] the pages of All the Year Round

In 1865 Mr Dickens published Our Mutual Friend [illegible] been made to the public [illegible] we have the [illegible] pleasure [illegible] before our readers the [illegible] The Mystery of Edwin Drood

His circumstance of Mr Dickens' second visit to the United States requires no [illegible] than a passing mention His various Readings in our principal cities [illegible] the [illegible] of being the best amateur actor of his time

Mr Dickens resides at Gad's Hill in Kent [illegible] on the road to the beautiful old [illegible] of Canterbury celebrated for its [illegible] and for being the metropolitan see of all England In Shakespeare's time Gad's Hill was a notorious locality for robberies and the poet has immortalized the spot in the First Part of King Henry IV (Act II Sc 2) by selecting it as the scene of Sir John Falstaff's discomfiture at the hands of his boon companions Prince Hal and Poins who disguised as footpads rob the fat knight of the [illegible] he has just stolen from the travellers [illegible] attaches itself to Gad's Hill as being the home of the novelist The house is one of those comfortable old fashioned mansions which [illegible] most picturesque parts of rural England [illegible] the brick [illegible] of home It is related that when Mr Dickens was a very young man he used to walk by this house and jestingly remarked that he intended to purchase the property some day little dreaming that before he reached his prime he would indeed be the occupant and owner of Gad's Hill place

Queens in a Republic

There are many queens in the United States There is a village queen She was the intelligent daughter of a shrewd farmer She loved knowledge, and early sought it under difficulties Being of a firm and persistent nature she contrived to squeeze enough out of poverty to secure a respectable academic education and became the wonder of all her neighborhood for learning She addicted herself to teaching, and soon grew to such influence that she was made Principal of an Academy and would there have educated generations of wives and mothers had not a lawyer submitted his heart to her charms and government A good teacher was lost but a good wife was won For she had much heart a keen insight into human nature dexterity in touching the springs of action and enough sympathy to desire to make all around her happy She certainly made her husband happy and it was with regret that he died leaving her his family and his property which for a village was not inconsiderable

He left some benefactions to the neighborhood but nothing half so valuable as his wife She grieved much for his death, both naturally and from a sense of duty It was like the loss of a well governed province She had governed so wisely that he did not know it neither did she until she felt the absence of her affectionate subject Before she had ruled the town through her husband At his death the town was like to have had an anarchy Nobody knew what ailed them all Something seemed gone It was only benevolent in her to restore to the air that vital principal which the village so much missed She encouraged all who came to her for counsel To the young with an appearance of rigor she yet gave such genial counsel as fixed her influence over them People loved to have their own way on high moral grounds She instilled economic advice so wisely that the people thought that they were only telling her what they meant to do Every one thought her the wisest person in the village except himself She never assumed authority She knew that influence was better than authority It was her right to have influence for she had superior intelligence singular knowledge of [illegible] tact in governing Her fault if she had one was that she dearly loved to govern It pleased her to hear men repeating her suggestions as their own to see her plans executed in the village church in the [illegible] circles in the schools and even in local politics It is true that her sphere was small but moral philosophers [illegible] magnitudes The philosopher is not measured by the size of the room in which he writes She did whatever there was to be done quietly gracefully, hiddenly She controlled men and women She guided their feelings and strongly affected their opinions Was she not a queen? Are there not a good many there in the Republic? We know at least half a dozen different sorts of queens [illegible] the whole republican queens [illegible] [illegible] H W Beecher

Emigrant Wave Flow to America

From the London Telegraph May 25

A spring tide of emigration has set in The Old World is rapidly emptying itself and the New World becomes rapidly filled up It is recorded that 8,080 emigrants left the Mersey during the last seven days [illegible] to sail this week We may easily believe that the greater majority of these [illegible] the United States for the statistics of New York testify to an influx greater in amount than our own emigration It is said that [illegible] have landed in New York during four days A few years ago it was thought marvellous that the newcomers amounted to 1,000 a day now they nearly double that number It must be borne in mind that this great exodus from the United Kingdom has a tendency to [illegible] time and power as it goes on Emigrants when they prosper in the new land send for their friends and relatives from home and the Irish and Germans most frequently remit money to defray the expenses of the second family detachment This is not quite true of the expatriated Englishmen nevertheless glowing accounts of the new land are often encouraging enough to those who can beg, borrow or save the few pounds needed for the short voyage by steam to New York The opening of the Pacific Railway is of course, the great stimulus of the present rush it gives access to countless square miles of virgin soil that otherwise might not have been reached for half a century
